

Radford to start taking DPT students in June

RADFORD — Radford University's new doctorate of physical therapy program will begin admitting its first students in June after receiving candidacy approval in the multistep accreditation process.

The program will be based in Roanoke on the Jefferson College of Health Sciences campus.

