The Jefferson College of Health Sciences HONORS PROGRAM

A program designed to challenge and enrich high-performing college students.

The Jefferson College Honors Program is designed to enhance the learning experience of outstanding college freshmen who are preparing to be ambitious candidates for graduate programs and competitive professional careers.

Students selected for the Jefferson College Honors Program will have opportunities to work one-on-one with faculty to develop a unique curriculum designed to enhance their learning experience. Honors students will also be provided with special learning experiences that will give them an edge as they pursue scholarships, awards, graduate programs, and professional careers.

The Jefferson College Honors Program consists of an introductory, one-semester course and completion of an Honors Assignment in four Arts & Sciences courses. Students will collaborate with professors who are expert scholars in their fields to develop an assignment that will support their academic goals.

Admission Requirements:

- First-time freshman
- 3.5 GPA on high school transcripts
